Letters To The Editor

Sir,

Dr. Gilbert Stephenson has been kind enough to bring to our knowledge great effort in obtaining musical instruments from various United States manufacturers for our National Conservatory of Music in Hue.

Through your effort, we not only have the instruments but also transportation from the States, this has helped to expedite the delivery and the instruments arrived in good order for the students to start their lessons.

A ceremony to present the instruments to our school was held on December 15, 1963.

We feel confident that you will share with us the immense happiness that our faculty and students here will enjoy.

We are grateful to the people in the United States for their generosity and we do say that our students will work hard to be worthy of that consideration and that they realize that they are being watched with interest by their friends on the other side of the Pacific Ocean.

Please let us express our deep gratitude to you and to your faculty at Ohio University for your kind assistance and most significant contribution to our school.

Very respectfully yours,

Sir,

Thanks for my December ALUMNUS, but it cost me 8 cents because you didn't know that I moved and I had to pay forwarding postage. Greetings to the entire staff, and the next time I'm in the vicinity, I'll be in.

Sir,

Shades of progress—Ellis Hall refurbished! We will never forget those creaky stairways, those loose floorboards, those drafty classrooms. But, alas, with Ellis Hall renovated can Ewing be far behind?

Sir,

I want to express my appreciation for "The Ohio Alumnus" which I receive each month and which I read from cover to cover.

Only a few names in the Alumniscopic are familiar, as I am really an "old-timer," but I can scarcely believe the progress the University has made since my day. It is truly fantastic and I read every article about it with the keenest interest.

I am especially interested in the expansion program which will include a campus at Zanesville, just a short drive from the Muskingum River from my hometown.

Because of illness and limited retirement income, I regret that I cannot contribute to the Alumni Association and to these progressive projects as I would like to do. I am a real estate taxpayer, which is a drop in the bucket toward the support of state financed educational projects.

Thanks again to the Alumni Association for a most interesting publication.

Sir,

Many thanks for the lovely December issue cover. It was a vast improvement over some of the recent "modern splotches."

Sir,

My sister, Hilda Strock, sent the notice to you about the passing of my husband, Lawrence Maple, on August 4 which appeared in the November Alumnus magazine. She evidently failed to mention my maiden name, Edith Strock, '30. I don't know whether this information could be put in another issue or not, but I thought it would be easier for those who know me to identify him and me.

Lawrence was a member of that "famous" '29 football team. He wanted so much to attend both celebrations that were given for them, but was "stymied" both times.

Sir,

Thanks for continuing to send the Ohio Alumnus. I enjoy keeping in touch. Unfortunately in the last issue there was nothing about the Class of '18. I've been working with aliens in the County Adult Education Program, teaching elementary English and citizenship.

PARTICIPANTS in the dedication of the Baker Center Veterans Memorial Room were escorted from Cutler Hall by an ROTC Honor Guard. Hundreds of students assembled on the College Green to witness the procession. The Veterans Memorial Room was donated to the university by seven Ohio organizations.

Excerpt from Trustee Johnson's dedicatory address.

" . . . Then he called unto a thousand peoples and summoned the bravest among them. They came from the ends of the earth, each bearing a gift and a hope. The glory of adventure was in their eyes and the glory of hope in their souls. And out of the labor of men and the bounty of earth, out of the prayers of men and the hopes of the world, God fashioned a nation in love, blessed it with a purpose sublime, and called it "AMERICA"!

A FEW LINES DEVOTED TO FACULTY AND STAFF PERSONALITIES

A Man of Sentiment

Ohio's Dr. Homer Bradshaw lectures University of Hue students.

"THE VIETNAMESE PEOPLE are often shy and reserved with Americans at first meeting," says Dr. Homer Bradshaw, associate professor of psychology, "but further association usually brings out the warm friendliness that is so characteristic of these people."

Dr. and Mrs. Bradshaw are spending two years in Vietnam in an effort to develop the educational program being sponsored by Ohio University. They were assigned to Vietnam in 1962 when the University was authorized by the U. S. State Department to institute a program of advisory assistance to the college of education, both at University of Saigon and the University of Hue.

The Bradshaws' work in Hue, the cultural center of Vietnam, is expected to have a significant influence on the development of educational standards within the country. Dr. Bradshaw works with a committee from the College of Education which was organized to outline the objectives of the secondary school program of Central Vietnam. Through an analysis of the present educational system, the committee has been able to formulate goals and educational standards that should most effectively meet the needs of the country.

Dr. Bradshaw offers high praise for some of his Vietnamese co-workers. "Mr. Au Ngoc Ho, secretary general of the University of Hue, has been a particularly creative member of the committee; his American educational background, along with his understanding of the educational problems in Vietnam, has made him an extremely valuable member of the committee," Dr. Bradshaw reports.

And in the same vein, American residents in Hue have praised the Bradshaws' many professional and cultural contributions in the community. They have both served as instructors in the evening classes of English language instruction sponsored by the United States Information Agency. Dr. Bradshaw has also served on the teaching staff of the local School of Nursing and on the selection board for sending Vietnamese students to the United States on educational scholarships.

When the Vietnamese say in fluent French that the Bradshaws are "people of sentiment," they are reflecting their admiration for one of the couple's favorite projects—a people-to-people gift of clothing for the children of poor families in the area. Friends, relatives and associates of the Bradshaws in the United States have sent numerous boxes of clothing, new and old to be distributed to the poorly-clothed children of the nearby hamlets.

While Dr. Bradshaw is recognized among his colleagues as a man of letters, he is equally proud to be known among the Vietnamese as a "man of sentiment."

Ohio's Mr. Basketball

THE BOBCATS' 98-82 win over Marshall gave Coach Snyder his 200th career victory and Ohio fans responded by presenting him a cake and a standing ovation. Dean of the Mid-American Conference coaches, Snyder got win 201 two weeks later against arch-rival Miami, 63-60, at Oxford.

JIM SNYDER is a big part of Ohio University basketball history.

The youthful, 45-year-old head cage coach was himself a playing star on one of the all-time great basketball teams Ohio ever had, the 1941 National Invitational runner-up club.

Since taking over the reigns of the basketball Bobcats when his old coach, Dutch Trautwein, stepped down in 1949, Ohio teams under Snyder have won 186 and lost 138 in 14 full years. Snyder-coached ballclubs brought Ohio back-to-back Mid-American Conference championships in 1960 and 1961. In 1961, his fellow Ohio coaches throughout the state chose Jim as "Ohio Coach of the Year."

But let's turn back the clock a bit to give you a look at the part this popular man has played in Ohio basketball history. The scene is New York and the "Little 10" from the Ohio hills raised a number of eyebrows by beating Duquesne 55-40 in the opening game of the 1941 National Invitational Tournament. The victory pitted Ohio against powerful City College of New York in the tourney semi-finals.

The following is reprinted verbatim from a souvenir edition of the Ohio University Post published Monday, March 24, 1941: "OU won, 45-43, over CCNY Saturday night and took its second big step toward the championship of the National Invitation Tournament.

"New York's so-called basketball dopesters again ran for cover as Franky Baumholtz and Jimmy Snyder, with 12 markers apiece, led the "little 10" from the Ohio hills into the tourney finals against LIU.

"THE GAME was hectic as the score was tied eight times and the lead changed hands 13 times. However, outside of CCNY's 16-10 first quarter lead, Ohio was out in front at the end of the other quarters by the slim margin of one point.

"The largest crowd ever to assemble for a Garden basketball game, 18,357, saw the Bobcats again make good on 15 free throws, to tie their record set against Duquesne. However, this record was broken by the Rhode Island team last Wednesday night when it scored 16 foul tosses."

A check of the play-by-play account of the game reveals that Snyder's shooting tied the game once for Ohio and put the Bobcats into the lead three times. He ended with three baskets and six free throws for 12 points, tied for game high with Baumholtz.

The following Monday saw Long Island University defeat the Bobcats in the finals 56-42 to win the championship. The lead on the game story in the same 1941

Ohio Post was this: "In a fiery see-saw game before 18,377 roaring fans in Madison Square Garden, Long Island University tonight defeated Ohio University, 56-42, in the final game of the National Invitational Tournament. OU's Frank Baumholtz scored 19 points in the game, bringing his tourney total to 53, an all-time tourney record, winning the most valuable player award."

In the same paper was a feature story on each member of that NIT team. Snyder's story read like this: "Probably one of the greatest, if not the greatest, all-around athlete on the OU campus today is blonde Jimmy Snyder, who paced the Bobcat scorers, along with Bauny, in the CCNY struggle Saturday night with 12 points. In his three years of varsity basketball—he came to OU from Canton McKinley High School—Jim has always come through when the occasion demanded.

"LOCAL FANS will remember the Toledo game two years ago when Jimmy came into the game to score 20 points against a great ball club. He ended in third place in Bobcat scoring that year with 133.

"Last season he was an even greater player than in his sophomore year, but dropped varsity baseball to devote his attention to football and basketball, being the Bobcat's chief-ground-gainer and pass-snagger in the former sport. He scored 177 points this year to again take third place.

"And the conversation in his room with roommate Carl Ott is—yes, you've guessed it—basketball."

So, the die was cast for Jim Snyder back then. After graduation from Ohio, Jim was head basketball and assistant football coach at Canton Lehman High School for a year before entering the service, returning there in 1945. He is a graduate of Canton McKinley High School where he played football and basketball. He was chosen to the All-Ohio Basketball team in 1937. Snyder returned to Ohio in 1946 as assistant basketball and football coach. He was backfield coach in football until he gave up all football duties in 1958 to devote full time to basketball coaching.

Snyder has consistently scheduled many of the top teams in the nation. Coming on Ohio's schedule next year are Indiana, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Purdue and Loyola of Chicago.

Snyder's charges currently are enjoying a great season with a 14-4 overall record and 7-2 in the Mid-American Conference through the first 18 games. The team has a chance to compare favorably with Snyder's best clubs (16-5 in 1954-55 and 17-7 in 1960-61). In 1961, after the second of two successive league crowns, Snyder was named Ohio College Coach of the Year.

Around the nation, Snyder is known and respected for four things: coaching ability, sincerity, personality, and integrity as an individual. It is largely Snyder's pleasant personality that entices good, young men to come to play for him at Ohio University. Once they're here, it's Snyder's same understanding approach that brings boys along fast and develops them into top-notch competitors.

After 14 years at the helm, Snyder reminisced about some of the top moments of his career. Big thrills along the way included the playoff victory in the NCAA of 1959-60 when Ohio beat Notre Dame 74-66. Ohio then lost by three to Georgia Tech, who lost to eventual winner Ohio State in the regional finals.

JIM NAMED the 76-68 win over Indiana, at Bloomington, in 1957-58. Indiana went on to win the Big Ten crown. That season, Ohio also beat Xavier 87-74, eventual winners of the NIT championship. The irony of that year was that the Bobcats could finish no higher than third in the Mid-American Conference.

The 78-66 win over Cincinnati in 1951-52, after losing to them earlier by 16 points, was a satisfying victory. Then there was the 72-70 triumph over Loyola of Chicago at Chicago in the 1954-55 season in which the Bobcats were 16-5, with all five losses coming in rugged Mid-American Conference play.

Snyder also mentioned the 62-54 win over Iowa in 1962 and the 77-76 come-from-behind win at Wisconsin as among the top thrills over his 15 years of Ohio coaching basketball.

BOBCAT PLAYERS lend an attentive ear as Coach Snyder maps strategy. Ohio teams have captured two MAC titles and finished second twice in the last four years.

ENCOURAGEMENT from the bench is a Jim Snyder trademark. It is largely his pleasant personality that entices good, young men to come to play for him at Ohio. Snyder's 201 victories have come against some of the best competition in the country.

"Of course, it's always tremendously satisfying to win the MAC championship and it was even more so in 1960-61 when we repeated with a team that was not nearly as strong as the 1959-60 club. That just goes to show you what a scrappy, hang-in-there type of team can do for you," said Snyder.

Looking back over the seasons, Snyder mused, "it's a funny game. Sometimes they bounce right for you and you win the close ones and then sometimes they don't. In my first four or five years they didn't bounce right and I had teams that lost close ones and finished about 12-12 that could very easily have been 18-6. Then in the past four or five years, they've bounced pretty well. So, you see, things have a way of averaging themselves out over the years."

Last Feb. 5, Ohio whipped Marshall at Athens 98-82 for Snyder's 200th career victory. Jim was presented with a big cake and huge ovation from about 6,000 Ohio fans on hand to witness the MAC win. In typical fashion, Snyder complimented his ballplayers, his assistant coaches, and the university and townspeople who have supported his teams and rooted the Bobcats home over the years. He denied any credit for himself.

This is Jim Snyder. This is what has made him, as one area sportswriter put it, "a class guy." This is why Ohio fans hope Jim Snyder will be around for a long time to come.

BOBCAT FANS have grown accustomed to down-to-the-wire finishes. The Bobcats's two losses in conference play to date have been a two-point decision to Western Michigan and an overtime defeat by Bowling Green.

Bobcat Lair

By Frank D. Morgan

COACH JIM SNYDER'S basketball Bobcats have cinched at least a tie for the Mid-American Basketball championship and if Ohio beats Toledo at Athens March 7, the Bobcats will be sole champions.

Rated no better than a fourth choice at season's start (behind Toledo, Miami, and Western Michigan) Snyder has parlayed two things, balance and bench, into a championship club.

Even those closest to the situation little dreamed that Ohio would have won 16 of the first 20 games, share or win outright the Mid-American championship and the resulting right to play in the Mid-East playoff of the NCAA tournament.

Snyder had good personnel returning doubtless, but from the start—lacked that good big man in the middle that usually spells success or failure on the college hardwood circuit.

From the center candidates at the start of the season, Snyder never found the "good big man in the middle" he was searching for. But, what he did discover was a combination of five players that gave Ohio a solid, balanced scoring attack, and a bench that he could go to for help when he needed it.

THROUGH THE FIRST 20 games, Jerry Jackson, Ohio's 6-3 senior guard from Corning, O., had scored 328 points for a 16.4 average to lead the way. Added to the steady Jackson performances as a sophomore and junior when he got 363 and 367 points, it gives the Ohio veteran a total of 1,058 points (with four games remaining) and places him as Ohio's fourth highest scorer in history, only 30 points away from third and 38 away from second. Bunk Adams' 1,196 total looks out of reach, but Jackson could very well end up as Ohio's second highest point maker in the school's history.

Don Hilt, Ohio's rugged 6-4 junior forward from Cleveland East, has also played a big role in the Ohio success story this winter. Hilt has scored 298 points and grabbed 197 rebounds. His 14.9 ppg average ranks him second to Jackson and he is the team's leading rebounder.

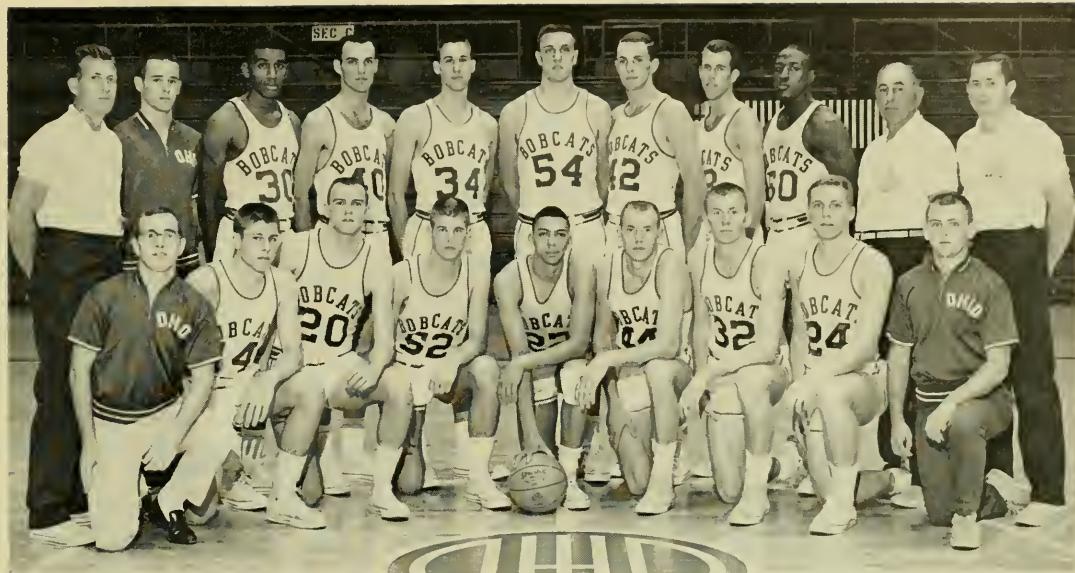

Mike Haley, Ohio's 6-5 junior forward running mate of Hilt's, has been a solid defensive ace all season for the Bobcats. The Portsmouth product has not only always drawn the toughest defensive assignment of each contest, but has contributed 256 points for a respectable 12.8 average. Mike gets up in the air real well also and trails Hilt as the team's second top rebounder with 161 for 8 per game.

Paul Storey, Ohio's 6-5 Captain from Xenia Public, started out as a guard this season, but then was moved to center in a move Snyder made which paid handsome dividends. Not only was Storey the best looking man at center for Ohio, but Snyder's insertion of Charlie Gill at Paul's former guard spot was the spark that got the Bobcats moving. After the move was made, Storey's point production and rebounding credits both swelled, just as Snyder hoped they would, and he carried a 13.5 scoring average and 5.2 rebound average through the first 20 games. A tireless hustler, Storey has good moves and a good jump shot, and has led Ohio to victory on more than one occasion.

The fifth starter is the amazing Charlie Gill. At 6-2, the hard-working Corning High teammate of Jackson's is always moving. His constant hustle enables him to get timely buckets and rebounds and he has developed into quite a ball-hawk for the Bobcats. Until Gill was put in the lineup, Ohio had suffered two straight setbacks and the main problem seemed to be that the ballclub was not moving well. Instead of running their patterns, they were standing flat-footed. But with Gill in the lineup, the perpetual motion sparkplug got the club moving again and Ohio raced to another seven straight victories before the Bowling Green upset. Gill only contributes about 5 points a game, but the spark he provides makes the rest of the ballclub function at its best which makes him an invaluable asset in the lineup.

SNYDER'S TWO MAIN strengths on the bench have been Euclid's 6-5 Tommy Davis, a junior F-G and Cincinnati Mt. Healthy's Tom Weirich, a 5-10 pepperpot.

Both boys possess good shooting eyes and Davis is a good rebounder. Each have come off the bench in key spots to do capable jobs for Snyder and allow the first five to get some needed rest. Other bench strength that has come in handy have been 6-6 sophomore Ken Brown and 6-7 junior Lloyd Buck. Brown is a hustler at the center spot and Buck has a good, soft touch around the basket.

Remaining on Ohio's schedule are away games at Morehead State and Loyola of Chicago and home contests with Louisville and Toledo. This presents another strange set of events. For should Ohio beat Toledo and win the MAC championship outright, or beat Miami in a post-season play-off battle, it would gain the NCAA berth and its opponent will be Louisville, a team Ohio would be playing for the third time this season.

Ohio lost to Louisville 69-61 at Louisville early in the year, but this was before Snyder switched Storey to center and inserted Gill in the lineup. Since that switch only the two-point away loss to Western Michigan and the overtime defeat at BG got in the way of 10 wins.

Through its first 22 games, Louisville, an independent power coached by Peck Hickman, has won 15 and lost 7. With mutual opponents, Ohio beat S. Illinois by 10 and St. Francis by 8 while Louisville, hard hit by illness, lost to S. Illinois by 2 and then a healthy UL club beat the Frankies by 14.

GAME-BY-GAME, the season went like this:

OHIO 73—Denison 39; Jackson, Hilt 17 each.
 105—Morehead 84; Hilt 23, Jackson 22.
 77—Wisconsin 76; Haley 23, Hilt 18.
 79—S. Illinois 69; Jackson 26.
 85—Marshall 69; Hilt 22.
 58—St. John's 54; Jackson 15, Haley 12.
 45—Army 58; Jackson 16.
 61—Louisville 69; Hilt 24.
 88—Bowling Green 79; Hilt 21, Jackson 18.
 93—Western Michigan 95; Haley 25, Storey 17.
 70—Toledo 65; Haley 19, Jackson, Gill 14.
 67—Miami 57; Jackson 23, Hilt 17.
 85—St. Francis 77; Storey 24, Jackson 23.
 76—Muskingum 58; Jackson 19, Haley 14.
 95—Western Michigan 69; Jackson 22, Hilt 18.
 76—Kent State 73; Jackson 18, Haley 16.
 98—Marshall 82; Storey 24, Jackson 23.
 69—Bowling Green 76 (over.) Storey 25, Hilt 19.
 63—Miami 60; Jackson 17, Hilt 16.
 65—Kent State 44; Hilt 14, Jackson 13, Storey 12.

Knowledge of sports and business helps as Ohio downs Missouri in television contest.

A TRIO of Ohio University alumni continued their alma mater's winning tradition by downing a good University of Missouri team 650 to 550 on the CBS Network quiz show, Alumni Fun, February 2. The victory netted Ohio $2000 to be used for research, development and scholarship purposes.

Representing the winning Bobcats were John W. Galbreath, '20, Columbus, O., real estate executive and chairman of the University's board of trustees; Band Leader Sammy Kaye, '32; and John Whiting, '36, executive vice president of Popular Science Publishing Co.

The Ohioans' knowledge of sports and business was enough to down the Missouri team composed of Author Mary Margaret McBride; Dr. Howard Rusk, New York University administrator, and John Mack Carter, editor of McCall's magazine.

The Alumni Fun show, sponsored by American Cyanamid, is a sort of senior version of the popular College Bowl series. The questions are not as specialized, but they still require a high degree of alertness and accumulated knowledge. Essentially, the show is an entertaining information game featuring prominent college and university alumni teams competing against each other for financial grants for their schools. Clifton Fadiman, former "Information Please" host, is moderator.

By winning their opening round, the Ohio team is now eligible to go on and win additional grants for the University. The next appearance of the Ohio team will be sometime this month.

Cuyahoga County . . .

Mothers of Scholarship

. . . to Cutler Hall

By Ed Rawlins

WHEN PRESIDENT Vernon R. Alden scheduled his first visit to the Ohio University Mother's Club of Greater Cleveland, he asked for an estimate of the number of persons he would be expected to address.

Dr. Alden was advised that attendance would range between 100 and 125, "150 at the very most."

This was the background for what proved to be a memorable and surprising introduction of a new administrator to Ohio University alumni-affiliated programs. Over 400 women were present to welcome the president to Cuyahoga County and Cleveland.

That was 1962 when Mother's Club membership was approaching 500. Today there are 600 members, greatest active representation of any group of similar interests.

Leading this dynamic organization is Mrs. George A.

MRS. GEORGE A. WEBER, president of the Ohio University Mother's Club of Greater Cleveland.

Weber and 12 other officers whose interest and ability have formed another strong link in a chain of excellent club directors.

MRS. WEBER will share the success of this year's programs during two of the club's top meetings next May. A new team of officers will be elected and installed in April. Then, on the weekend of May 8-10, the club will migrate to Athens to participate in the University's Mother's Weekend. On May 19, the club will hold its annual Scholarship Presentation meeting in Cleveland.

The original Mother's Club was founded in 1940 and Mrs. George F. Reid of Lakewood was its president. Impetus for the club was provided by the late Dean Irma M. Voigt, who issued the challenge in an address to all women attending the traditional mothers weekend celebration in the spring of 1940.

MOTHER'S CLUB membership has grown from 40 members in 1940 to over 600 today. The club's basic purpose is to raise funds for Ohio students from Greater Cleveland, which has historically sent more students to the university than any other area in the state. (Jon Webb Photos)

So successful was this initial effort that Mrs. Reid and her club were soon helping to organize a sister group on Cleveland's West Side.

Later, in the winter of 1940, the Lakewood club assisted in establishment of an East Side group, and these units merged to become the Ohio University Mother's Club of Greater Cleveland. Mrs. Clarence Rauch was the first president of the general club. Both Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Rauch are still active today.

The only aspect of the club which has not changed has been its basic purpose: For over 20 years now, the Cleveland Mother's Club has worked to raise funds for Ohio University students from Greater Cleveland.

In fulfilling this purpose, the Mother's Club has donated over $10,000 in scholarships. This figure has been increased substantially each year, commensurate with the growing strength of the organization.

Meetings of 40 or 400 never cease to impress visitors from the University, and this can be attributed to the close and continuing ties between the mothers and the campus.

MANY OF THE members have chosen to maintain their association in the club even after their sons and daughters have graduated. This is true of the current president, Mrs. Weber, whose daughter Judy graduated last year, and it is true of Mrs. J. Paul Sweet, immediate past president, who still serves as an officer.

Cleveland alumnae elect to join the Mother's Club to take advantage of the monthly luncheon programs which always include a campus personality as guest speaker.

Activities offer something for every member. A typical program might include Ohio University Baseball Coach Robert M. Wren and Sarah Harding Hunter, noted public speaker from the Cleveland area. Or, as in the case of a fall meeting this year, the mothers heard Dr. Thomas S. Smith, vice president of academic affairs, who shared the program with Mr. L. E. Auman who exhibited an unusual collection of bells from all parts of the world.

Other special activities include book reviews and fashion, beauty and music programs.

AT THE CLUB'S meeting last October more than 100 freshman mothers were introduced. This was the result of efforts by Mrs. Vurnen Johnson and her membership committee which, each year, contacts every mother whose son or daughter is entering Ohio University.

Excitement is already building within the group over the impending migration to campus for Mother's Weekend in May. Last year, nine buses were chartered to bring 348 mothers to Athens, and Mrs. Weber is predicting that more buses will be needed to make this May's visitation.

Although the formal Mother's Club programs will end with the academic year, the women have channeled reserve energy toward a summer project in continuing education.

Last summer, mothers were able to enroll in a course of interior decorating sponsored by the club and taught by established professionals in Cleveland.

The Mother's Club is also represented on the University's Parents Advisory Committee, which meets on campus to assist in improving student personnel programs and other services. Mrs. Ray Hagley, Mother's Club vice president, serves on the advisory committee.

Ill Health Forces Dando To Retire As Ohio Dean

JOSEPH H. DANDO, '30, assistant dean of men at Ohio University since 1951, resigned his position February 1 on the advice of his personal physician.

"He has served the University well in a number of capacities over the last several years," said President Alden. "We appreciate very much these contributions and what he has meant to the University and to thousands of students. We shall miss him at Ohio University, and we wish him full health in his retirement."

A native of Wellston, O., Dando came to Ohio as a student in 1926. Hindered by the depression and then the impending war, he received his degree in 1948 from the University of Arizona. He then returned to Athens to do graduate work in history.

As an undergraduate, Dando was president of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Also a student leader and scholar, he was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. And the retiring dean mixed athletics with the arts, too.

In 1926, Dando made the all-conference football team when Ohio was a member of the tough Buckeye Conference. And he was a member of the university quartet that performed locally and once went to California to sing.

Dando spent four years as an Army Air Corps Master Sergeant stationed in England. Injured in a bombing raid, he spent 18 months recovering in English and American hospitals.

After 14 years of being, what he terms, "close to the students," Dando and his wife, the former Louise Palmer, plan to stay close to Athens. Mrs. Dando will continue her employment as a case worker for the Athens County Welfare Department and the couple will continue to reside at The Plains.

Two Ohio University Alumni Witness Shooting Of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Texas

TWO OHIO UNIVERSITY alumni, Glen A. Bennett, '52, and Navy Lt. Tom Atkins, '56, witnessed the slaying of President John F. Kennedy November 22 in Dallas, Tex.

Bennett, a special agent for the U. S. Secret Service, was seated beside the driver in the Secret Service car immediately behind the President's when the shooting occurred. Lt. Atkins, attached to the President's personal White House staff as the first and only official movie photographer in history, was riding in the third car behind the President when the fatal shots were fired.

An erroneous report that a Secret Service agent had been killed in the shooting alarmed Bennett's immediate family. "I had seen him (via television) get into the car right behind the President," recalled his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Aeversold of Dover, O. It wasn't until television films showed Bennett getting off the plane in Washington, D. C., with the late President's body that the family's worries were quieted.

Bennett's work usually had been confined to duty at the executive offices of the White House and he had been in the party accompanying the President for only six weeks before the shooting occurred, having accompanied him to Cape Canaveral and on his western tour.

Lt. Atkins, a member of White House staff since February 1963, told his mother in a telephone conversation shortly after the slaying that he had jumped from the car and ran across the road in an attempt to photograph the assassin. What he saw was the crowd scrambling for cover after the shots were fired. He returned to his car and followed the President's car to the hospital where he remained until word came of Kennedy's death.

Atkins had accompanied the President on all his trips last year except the European tour. He made around 30 official color movies of the affairs of state and also accompanied the first family on vacation trips to Camp David to film family gatherings.

The lieutenant spent the fatal weekend filming ceremonies being conducted in Washington and later was on hand to record on film the funeral and burial rites.

"Mom, I can't believe it," Atkins was quoted by his mother. "After standing by the President's door every day for the past eight months it seems almost impossible to go in this job."

The slaying of the President upset the Bennetts, too. Mrs. Bennett, the former Glenna Klein, '53, wrote friends saying, "lately things have been confused, as Glen works various shifts, etc., and some days we hardly see each other."

Alliance Francaise Plans 50th Reunion On Friday, June 5

All former members of the Ohio University Alliance Francaise (1914 to 1956) are invited to attend the 50th anniversary reunion on Friday evening, June 5, in Athens.

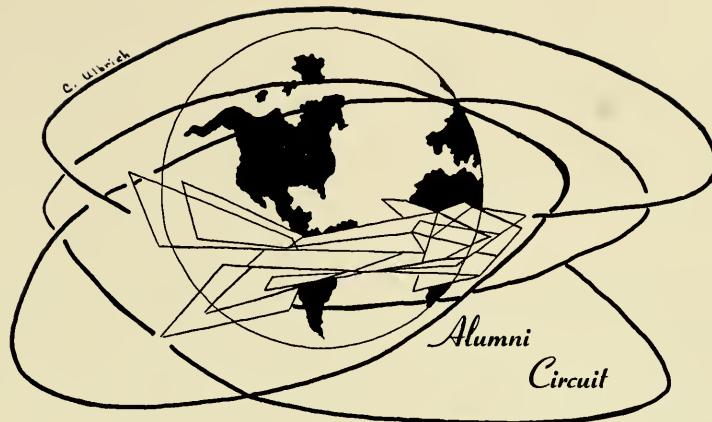

There will be a quasi-French dinner at the Baker Center ballroom at 5:45, followed by a few scenes from past dramatic productions of the Club. The remainder of the program and the social hour will take place at Miss Noss' home, 76 Elmwood Place. Transportation will be provided for those who do not have their cars.

Please send reservations with check (made payable to Ohio University) to Miss Mary T. Noss, 76 Elmwood Place, Athens, Ohio, 45701, by May 1st. The final deadline will be Wednesday, June 3. Kindly state whether or not you wish to be placed at a table where French is spoken.

Lodging for all will be at Voigt Hall, College Street, Friday and/or Saturday nights at $2.00 per night per person. Lodging for Thursday night may be obtained at a motel. Price of the dinner is $3.00 including tax.

About fifty persons have already expressed their intention to be present, the first decade having the largest representation at present. Those who wish to bring along a member of the family or a friend, may secure reservations for them also. Parking space will be available back of the Baker Center or at the Space Arts building back of Voigt Hall.

THE FACULTY for the 1964 summer Alumni College has been completed with the addition two outstanding campus talents.

Dr. Fred Picard, veteran professor of economics, will teach Contemporary Economic Issues, and Mr. Cecil Hemley, editor of the Ohio University Press and lecturer in English, will teach Contemporary Literature.

Newcomer to the faculty, Editor Hemley was co-founder and editor-in-chief of New York's Noonday Press. He has had two novels and three collections of poems published, and has taught creative writing classes at Columbia and City College of New York.

Four Ohio professors were named to the Alumni College faculty last month. They are Dr. John Cady, who will teach a course on Trends in China and Southeast Asia; Dr. Ray Gusteson, 1964 Presidential Campaigns; Dr. Fred Leach, Art Theory and Practice, and Dr. Anthony Trisolini, Interpretive Acting.

This year's Alumni College will include two sessions, July 5-11 and July 12-18. Each session will include evening discussion groups in Family Relations, Investments and Communications.

Classes will be held each morning, Monday through Friday with afternoons reserved for golf, bowling and swimming. Two Ohio coaches, Kermit Blosser and Carroll Widdoes, will give instruction in golf and bowling.

Alumni College participants will reside in Voigt Hall and dine in John Calhoun Baker Center. Classes will be scheduled at the Center, Bentley and Ellis Halls and the Space Arts Building.

Cost of the Alumni College is $70 per person, including registration fee, room and board, graduation banquet and health fees.

The first Alumni College was held last summer and it was unanimously acclaimed by participants. Registration for the 1964 College is now open and continues until June 1. (See Back Cover)

AMONG HIGHLIGHTS of the spring alumni calendar will be a reception for President and Mrs. Vernon R. Alden at the Cincinnati home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hall.

Member of Ohio's Board of Trustees, Mr. Hall is chairman of the board of The Kroger Company. The event is being timed with the reorganization of Greater Cincinnati alumni under the leadership of Alumni Association Director F. Patrick Collins.

The reception will be held Saturday, May 16.

Other spring events include:

March 27—ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. Arrangements to be announced.

March 28—FORT LAUDERDALE, FLA., alumni to meet at the Jolly Roger Hotel. Dinner $3.50. Reservations to A. E. (Dink) Miller, 751 South Federal, Pompano Beach, Fla.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The 1964 Alumni College will be held in two sessions. Alumni may register in either session, or both.

Alumni, wives and husbands, are invited to return to classes on The College Green during the weeks of July 5-11 and July 12-18. Those who enroll will be housed in Voigt Hall.

The Alumni College is a program of continuing education with emphasis on study, recreation and relaxation. There will be free time to renew ties with faculty and with other alumni, and to inspect the growth that has occurred in the past 15 years.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

Classes will be held each morning, Monday through Friday, beginning at 9 a.m. Classroom buildings will include John Calhoun Baker Center, Bentley Hall, Space Arts Building and the newly-renovated Ellis Hall.

Three evening discussion periods will explore insights to Faculty Relations, Investments and Communications.

All courses will be keyed to the modern family unit.

RECREATION

Alumni College participants will be able to join daily afternoon classes in golf and bowling instruction. The university golf course and bowling lanes will also be open to those with advanced skills. Swimming parties will be held in the Natatorium.

Each week's program will include a picnic supper, style show and theater party.

THE COST

The registration charge for each session will be $25 per person. Room, single or double with maid service, linens and towels, is $15 per person. Board (cafeteria style breakfast, lunch and supper) is $30 per person. Total cost for one session of the Alumni College is $70 per person.

I (we) elect to enroll in the first session, July 5-11
 I (we) elect to enroll in the second session, July 12-18
 I (we) desire living accommodations in Voigt Hall
 I (we) do not need living accommodations on campus
